AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CHURCH

I Love this church or I wouldn't care what or how things go on.

We are fortunate enough to have a new full time pastor -so- let's do everything we can to help make her ministry successful and our church grow and be a good statement in our community –and- world.

I realize we've been without a full time pastor for some time, as great as Pastor John's ministry was for us. I know a few people did a great job of stepping up and keeping everything going and a special thanks to them.

However, now we have a pastor and we must go back to taking our hopes, desires, questions and gripes to the Executive Committee –or- through the board meeting and the chairman take them to this meeting with Pastor Meg and/or Lynn Bort, our moderator, who has and is doing an excellent job of leadership. Or– speak to a member of the Pastoral Relations committee to speak of (share) your joys and disappointments. In these two ways we will be moving forwards and doing the job God would like us to do.

Another help, I feel, is putting “news” and happenings in our church paper “The Witness” Cindy has tried very hard to get this done– why can't each board and/or committee put a little something in to tell all of us here and away what the heck is going on in this busy place. (or let everyone know this is a busy place)

No more complaining or questioning to the wrong people at the wrong place– go to wherever you can complement those who are doing such good works or find answers to your questions –and– help God's work grow.

-And- to do this everyone must be involved in some way (not hard to find a place that fits your gifts)

This old woman has been active in this church since early 60's. This age group has stayed very active, and still are in the best way we can, however, it is time for the younger folks to step up and allow us to step down without guilt. We're here for guidance and advice, if desired. We'll try not to say “we did it this way,” BUT– some of those ways are still useful to keep First Baptist on the go.

Let's find the way to work together and get it done in the best way by leading, helping, and sharing– doing our part to make everything as successful as possible

Okay, I've spoken my piece– now I'll try to be quiet unless it's in a way that's truly helpful.

This is our church, our God, our friends and family. Let's make it a growing, happy place to spend time at worship and activities that add to all of this.

letter or two each year to someone who helped make me who I am today. Some things just need to be said, and none of us know how much time on this side of eternity we get. I find that there are far too many people who wish they would have said something when the funeral takes place. Live without regrets.

See you in church!

PASTOR'S CORNER

I can hardly believe it is time for the cold weather and holidays once again. As life gets crazy in the next few weeks, don't forget to take time for yourself. Some of us are fantastic at taking care of other people, but forget to care for ourselves. I am just as guilty as everyone else, normally. In the last few months I have made going to the gym a part of my routine. It is time for me, and I admit that I feel better. Not everyone is able to go to the gym, but read a book, knit, work a crossword puzzle. Do it for you.

As we prepare for the season, we are going to talk a lot about being thankful. I encourage for you to begin now to think about who and what you are thankful for. Have you thanked God for that blessing lately? If your answer is no, then please do. I would encourage you to tell the people who make it to your list. It really does make a difference in a person's life. I have made a habit of writing a
